

GENESEE COMMUNITY COLLEGE NURSING PROGRAM ADMISSION PROCEDURES

Genesee Community College guarantees acceptance into the College to any applicant who can benefit from an educational program. However, admission into the Nursing Program is selective and competitive. Meeting all of the minimum requirements assures that your file will be reviewed for admission into the nursing program. However, meeting the minimum requirements does not guarantee admission into the nursing program.

- To be considered for admission, the applicant must submit all application materials by the following deadlines:

Fall admission – Application deadline: January 15

Spring admission – Application deadline: August 1

- A review of completed applications will begin at the submission deadline. If the class is not filled, additional applications will continue to be accepted and reviewed until the class is filled. A point system will be applied to rank those applicants who meet eligibility requirements. Written notification of acceptance will be made by the Admission Office by the following dates:

April 15 for completed applications received prior to January 15 (Fall admission)

July 1 for applications received at a later date (Fall admission)

October 1 for completed applications received prior to August 1 (Spring admission)

December 1 for applications received at a later date (Spring admission)

- It is to the applicant's advantage to submit all application materials by the deadline as noted. The acceptance process is competitive, and it is highly unlikely that an application received after the deadline will be reviewed, as the class may be filled.
- Accepted applicants are required to confirm their intention to enter into the Nursing Program by returning the Enrollment Confirmation form to the Director of the Nursing Program. Failure to submit the Enrollment Confirmation form by the deadline noted on the form will result in forfeiture of a position in the Nursing Program.
- If not accepted to the Nursing Program, the applicant must re-apply by the appropriate application deadline. Under no circumstances is readmission to the program guaranteed.
- Accepted applicants must attend an orientation session with the Director of the Nursing Program before they will be permitted to register for classes. Accepted applicants will be notified of dates and times of these sessions. Failure to attend the orientation session will result in forfeiture of the position in the Nursing Program.
